About the Area of Music

The Area of Music is one of three areas in the Division of Fine Arts—Art, Music, Speech Communication and Theater. It is located in David H. Bradford Hall, which houses a 900-seat auditorium and 250-seat theater; private music studios, practice rooms, and laboratory classrooms for music education, music technology, jazz improvisation, and class piano. The Music Listening Laboratory is housed in Blazer Library. The Area of Music is an institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM) and the Kentucky Association of College Music Departments (KACMD).
